

Department of Philosophy – University of Utah

Application for the Whisner/Appleby Scholarship for 2022-2023

($4000.00 for tuition/books)

APPLICATION DEADLINE: March 25, 2022

ELIGIBILITY AND APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

There are three main conditions you must meet to qualify for consideration for this scholarship:

- You are a Philosophy Major who will enroll fulltime (≥ 12 hours, per sem.) in the 2022-2023 academic year.
- You have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.0.
- You qualify for federal financial aid (see below).

Regarding the third condition: Primarily, this is a need-based scholarship, where "need" is determined by the Office of Financial Aid, in connection with a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). The relevant information we need is provided in a Financial Needs Based Analysis – the Office of Financial Aid will provide this analysis (if requested) for any student who has submitted a FAFSA. Submit a FAFSA and request the analysis.

Additionally, you'll submit the following: (1) Résumé (CV); and (2) typed personal statement (one page limit) explaining why you think you're a suitable candidate for the Whisner/Appleby Scholarship. In writing your personal statement, make a point to explain any special circumstances you'd like the scholarship committee to consider: e.g., perhaps you've been involved in noteworthy community outreach; or perhaps you've endured special hardship, or disadvantage – financial, or otherwise; or perhaps you'd help bring some unique or diverse perspective to the department, or the philosophical community; or perhaps in your family you're a first generation college student; etc. (Comment, too, on your particular interests in philosophy.)
